

Robtrice D. Brawner, Ph.D., LCPC

Professor & Former Department Chair, The Chicago School of Professional Psychology, Counseling Department

College Counselor for 13 years

My name is Robtrice Brawner and I am a former assistant professor and chair of the clinical mental health counseling and counselor education and supervision programs at the Chicago School of Professional Psychology. I have worked in higher education for more than 13 years, with the first 8 of which as a college counselor in a community college setting. I am a licensed clinical professional counselor (LCPC) and spent most of my clinical career counseling children, adolescents, and college aged clients.

As a college counselor I was responsible for academic advisement, crisis counseling, teaching of student development courses, as well as, serving as a member and chair of the campuses threat assessment team. I have had the opportunity to maintain leadership roles in student affairs, as well as, academic affairs. All of which have allowed me the experience of managing budgets, serving on both college and campus wide committees, as well as, holding leadership roles in both the ACA and ACCA professional organizations. In reference to ACA, I was a co-chair of the ACA presidential task force on counseling LGBTQ individuals across the lifespan, and with ACCA I was chair of the diversity and inclusion committee.

With regard to the ACCA treasurer position I would like the opportunity to continue my involvement with ACCA by serving in an officer capacity. Likewise, I welcome the experience of being able to see the interworking's of the division, and being able to contribute to the development of its members through the grant programs, advocacy efforts, and overall support of the college counselor. I enjoy working with numbers and look forward to the opportunity to help ACCA continue to be a thriving division of ACA.
