The business of selling office furniture has changed dramatically since 1984. What started as “furnishing an office” has now evolved into “creating a great place to work”. At OfficeWorks we understand the importance of attracting and retaining great people, creating a work environment that portrays the right image, and the need to maximize the efficient use of real estate. That’s why our internal and external mission at OfficeWorks is to provide a great experience, great furniture, and create a great place to work. It is our belief that if our employees enjoy a great place to work internally, they will provide that same great experience and level of satisfaction externally to our customers.

OfficeWorks began under the leadership of current owner/president, Tom O’Neil, and owner/executive vice president, Larry Martin. In 2003, twelve year OfficeWorks’ veteran Dan Morris also gained ownership in the company. Today, OfficeWorks has sixty employees, and is currently the only minority owned and certified Herman Miller dealer in the state of Indiana.

Committed to the communities that we serve, OfficeWorks is involved with the Indy Partnership, is a member of the Indiana, Indianapolis, Lafayette, Carmel, Fishers, Lawrence, and Indianapolis Hispanic Chambers of Commerce, the Better Business Bureau, BOMA/Building Owners and Managers Association, IFMA/International Facility Managers Association, and the IIDA/International Interior Design Association.
