

Susan Moon – Culver

Susan Moon is the Director of Counseling and Wellness at Culver Stockton College, a small liberal arts college in the Midwest. She has been director for 9 years, following a long career in private practice and community mental health. She received her undergraduate degree at Allegheny College and her MA from George Washington University. She describes herself as a “generalist”, having about seen it all in 35 years of practice. On campus she also has had unfortunate experience in campus death, and critical incidents. Susan is excited to mentor other director peers on administrative, supervision and clinical issues. The only thing she cannot be helpful with would be budgets at larger universities. That is way out of her scope of practice!

She can be contacted by email at smoon@culver.edu or by phone at 573-288-6441.
